

City Girl Killed In Motorcycle Crash

PILLION SEAT RIDER KILLED IN COLLISION

Leona Holychuk, Nurse at General Hospital, Victim of Crash

Catapulted from the seat of a motorcycle on which she was riding when it collided with a speed estimated at 40 miles an hour with a truck, Miss Leona Holychuk, 10383 93rd street, member of the General hospital, received fatal injuries yesterday before 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, death following at the Misericordia hospital at 5:45 p.m.

Man Injured

Bud Stanley, 10 1/2, 162nd street, was operating his motorcycle in the Misericordia when his right foot, fastened to the floor, hit the mouth and suffered a broken bone in the toe which has been severed.

The accident occurred on Adams Road about 11:15 a.m. when the motorcycle hit a truck which had been traveling at a speed of 40 miles an hour.

Stanley, a pillion passenger, was catapulted from the motorcycle to the pavement with terrific force.

He was taken to the hospital proceeding south on 162nd Street when he noticed a motorcycle coming toward him. He swerved to avoid the motorcycle and the motorcycle pulled to the right side of the street and then nudged him, causing him to fall and crumpled in front of the truck.

Speed Estimate

Arrive Dr. W. H. Williams and Dr. Phillips Williams, 10187 89th street who witnessed the crash, told police that they believed the motorcycle was traveling at a speed which was not less than 40 miles an hour.

Traffic Constable Jekson examined the wreckage he found the speedometer on the motorcycle was registering 49 miles an hour. The machine was in good condition.

Stanley, suffering severe pain, was admitted to the hospital by Constable Jekson at the hospital and said that he believed that he was going to die.

In the course of the investigation he was asked if he had been traveling at the time of the crash. He first noticed the truck coming toward him, swerved away and believed that he was going to be hit, but when the left rear wheel hit the ground he was in a head-on collision with the truck.

I didn't remember any more, Stanley said.

Dies of Shock

Leona Holychuk, 10-year-old girl from Sheaf received a fracture of the collar bone and a sprained shoulder when her leg hit out from under her. The severe shock was too great and she died before she could be taken to the hospital.

Constable Jekson said that he had been told that she had been riding her bicycle home from school when she was hit by a car.

Her parents were informed and a telegram was sent to her mother in England.

Police said that arrangements are being made today by police officers and it is now expected that any court action will be taken.

An inquest will be held at Howard and McLean's office on Friday morning at eleven o'clock. Friday morning, Dr. Keeler is the coroner in charge.

GOVT. DONATES $3,000 RELIEF TO WAINWRIGHT

Premier Announces Liberal Contribution to Sufferers From Sunday Fire

Following close upon the dispatch of a carload of groceries and furniture on Wednesday by the government of Alberta to the stricken town of Wainwright, an announcement was made on Thursday morning that the provincial government had donated $3,000 to the town.

In making this donation the provincial government is giving the windfall funds for relief, which would be sponsored out of the treasury.

Mayersburg of this city and Ontario, with the scheme placed before him, agreed to give $1,000 to the town of Wainwright while the scheme was put into effect.

View was concurred in by Mayor May, Wainwright town official, and the relief fund was established.

It was decided that aid should be hard hit, and the resultant unemployment was to be heavily burdened by those thrown out of work.

Bank clearances for the week ending from Thursday totalled $6,000,528.60 and $1,000,106.87 for the same period last year.

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution to the problem in the use of all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers resulted in 39 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

The story ended in a touch of mystery.

Mr. C. L. Dillen, of Portland, Oregon, July 25—Max Rosenblatt, special New York correspondent of the Associated Press, has already installed that new record. He has been saving on his gas savings, but also are saving money on his car expenses, such as insurance, running motors and drivers, etc. He has been driving 16,000 miles a month in Milwaukee, Wis., for a limited time, offering a service to the public.

They also need men to help them in their own territory taking care of local interests. Write him at once for sample and his source material.

ANOTHER "INVASION"

A British automobile manufacturer is to invade the Canadian market. He is going to do it from a factory at Butler, Pennsylvania, where the car is to be made so as to combat him in our machine in Canada for sale in Canada. In the present temper of the Canadian people he may about as well get ready to start a Canadian racing at an early date. The people of the Dominion are getting very tired of these "invasions" from the south, for which the United States refuses to make any compensating concessions to Canadian manufactured goods or farm products.

TAKE NO CHANCES

Apparently Mr. W. W. Wright, who started in in Canada, which would not ordinarily have produced a serious confrontation. Most fires start that way. It was the wind that turned a small backyard blaze into a devouring monster, devoured the house and checked it. Firefighters can extinguish a fire, but they cannot cope with a fire-filled wind.

The moral is plain for people of other towns and cities. Edmonton and Alberta towns generally have been built in an unusual dry and unusually windy summer. The conditions for town-burns have been almost ideal on many occasions during the last three months. This is one season when nobody should take chances with fire.

A GOOD IMITATION

If there is any consolation in that, Canadian readers will note that Great Britain and parts of continental Europe are suffering from heat and drought. So are the central wheat-growing states, and the Pacific states from coast to coast. Washington. The reports indicate that more or less similar conditions prevailed in the southern hemisphere during the summer months there. We are in the way, however, those who told us two or three months ago that this was to be the long-dreaded "year without a summer" in western Canada? If it isn't really summer that we are getting, it is the way just now, it is a sufficiently inferior sun than a climatological precisionist or a Texas horner toad.

CCompensation in Price

The wheat pool is to make a down payment of one dollar a bushel on this season's grain, while the farmer's net down payment has been cut. The management is evidently confident that prices will rule higher through the coming twelve months than in the last. That seems to go in line with the expectations of grain interests generally with the tenor of crop reports from all parts of the world.

If these expectations are realized, the better part of the way to go low way to offset the short crop will be reaped in the Canadian west, a very long way should the weather continue warm and dry, as it has been all summer. A half crop of high grade grain is about as high premium as the next farmer more money than a bumper yield of inferior grain marketed against an enormous world crop. And in farming, as in any other business, it is the net profit, not the bulk receipts that is important.

CALLING ON THE LEAGUE

The Nanking authorities announce that they will appeal to the League of Nations, should Russia force war upon them in defiance of the Kellogg pact. That is in keeping with their eloquent appeal to know how to proceed on the matter in dispute. If the Chinese Government has dealt unfairly with Russian interests in the Chinese Eastern railway, they are at least keeping strictly to the standards of conduct prescribed in the League covenant and the pact. In that they deserve the moral support of the world.

If the League of Nations is to effectively meet this question, all the will have to be done in a constructive way, and not simply as a demand for the observance of the literal prohibitions and regulations of international law. A thoroughgoing investigation into the rights of both countries in respect of the railway, by an authority competent to hand down a finding which will be accepted by both parties at large, is what is required to make a real settlement of the dispute. China evidently is willing for that. It is up to Russia.

How to be a Captain

By EDGAR A. GUEST

"I like to be the captain of a ship that sails the sea; I'd like to wear that uniform," a youngster said to me. Said I: "Let's ask the captain what a youngster has to do." Who wants to be the master of a vessel and its crew? So we went to see him, with this question on our lips:

"What does it require to do before they get their ships?"

"Well, it's a lifetime in his eye as unto us he said: 'I've got to learn to anchor'—that's until my hands were red."

I ascended the decks and learned the ropes and trunnions.

I washed the dishes, but that was years.

There wasn't anything about the ship I didn't do.

"I smoked and I learned to eat, and in a rear or two they let me make my trick at wheel while I had and went I mind the happy lumpy wavy came into my

The day they made me Number One of the Number Seven boat.

I served as an officer for several years or more.

And by and by second mate a uniform I wore."

"And when I'd learned a little more—I don't recall the end—but I can't say it's true, my captain recommended me to be the vessel's mate.

So when you see a captain in his braided uniform remember that he's been tried below, and tried above.

He's had many years of service in the crew's nest and

And worked his way through grease and dirt to get

"that braid of gold."

Useless Skills

By GLENN FRANK

The other day a newspaper reporter recorded this brief but revealing conversation:

"Neither can spin wool, nor can we knit," said the grandfathers and grandmothers.

"Well, what's it good for?" asked a modern association.

"It's good for a decorative association."

It is an obvious but often overlooked point in our homesickness the lack of all-all.

Why should the modern girl be compelled to make candles when she can buy better candles for a pittance?

The worker in a soap shoe factory is as much the slave of his master as the man who makes difficult to make a pair of shoes entire.

The man who makes pottery might find that all his fingers were thumb if he strangled a hen.

But after all, not one of us million will ever be strangled on a dead island; few of us will ever be compelled to turn our backs to the sun to have our turner and run up a shock to the top of the mountain.

What point would there be to our spending precious time and energy seeking status we shall never need?

We do not live in a lack-of-time society, and the time available to us is ample.

The problem that we moderns face is not to remain static, but to find ways to keep ourselves occupied with specialized things without allowing ourselves to become specialized persons.

A narrow skull and a broad spirit to our goal.

President McNaught of the N.E. and recently appointed to the Canadian Senate, has given his company instructions to abandon Manitoba, were probably to their efforts to float bonds. That is why they are here.

It is announced that an arrangement has been made between the Canadian and the Chinese to assist in the building of a trans-Siberian railway which will avert the possibility of a collision in Behring Sea during the sealing season. As the Canadian seafarers are already engaged in the monsoon trade, once Behring has not backed down for the United States.

There seems to be every prospect that railway construction will be suspended in the U.S. and Canada, and the Canadian government will be compelled to pay a heavy toll for the use of the railroads.

Although Mr. Norway was in public life long ago, he was in private life in public life long ago, too.

President McNaught of the N.E. and recently appointed to the Canadian Senate, has given his company instructions to abandon Manitoba, were probably to their efforts to float bonds. That is why they are here.

It is announced that an arrangement has been made between the Canadian and the Chinese to assist in the building of a trans-Siberian railway which will avert the possibility of a collision in Behring Sea during the sealing season. As the Canadian seafarers are already engaged in the monsoon trade, once Behring has not backed down for the United States.

There seems to be every prospect that railway construction will be suspended in the U.S. and Canada, and the Canadian government will be compelled to pay a heavy toll for the use of the railroads.

Although Mr. Norway was in public life long ago, he was in private life in public life long ago, too.

What point would there be to our spending precious time and energy seeking status we shall never need?

We do not live in a lack-of-time society, and the time available to us is ample.

The problem that we moderns face is not to remain static, but to find ways to keep ourselves occupied with specialized things without allowing ourselves to become specialized persons.

A narrow skull and a broad spirit to our goal.

Public Library Makes Holiday Time Happier For Hundreds Of Edmonton Children

Librarians Asked for "Friction Books for Mother," and Picture Books for Tiny Tots

BY H. MARY ROSS

Tiny tots who can hardly read and can sing will be almost too large for the children's books at the Public Library, but daily in search of more books at the Edmonton Public Library these days. They provide many hours of fun for the children still related by Miss Birchen, the librarian at 2015 102nd Street.

One little girl wanted to read "Folks' Mill," much to the consternation of one of the librarians, who discovered that "The Mill on the Floss" was the title of a "friction book" for mother. Another forgot the name of the book she wanted to wish to read. When questioned as to what it was about, she said "rabbits and bunnies." After much puzzle, the librarian asked if it were "rabbits and bunnies" or "rabbits." To the great joy of the young.

In the main library, children often come with their mothers while they choose books. The tiny tots are often given a candy by the librarian in exchange for a book. The tiny tots are sometimes given candy, too, to keep them quiet as they can't yet read. After much puzzle, the librarian asked if it were "rabbits and bunnies" or "rabbits."

A sturdy little lad of four who is a tremendous fan of the "Friction Books" with his mother, is quite often given a candy by the librarian in exchange for a book. The tiny tots are very well attended, and there are as many as seven hundred children in the library every Saturday. On a week day, the average between 100 and 200 books go out the door. In the summer, the children are given free books to the children. On Saturdays at the south end there are 200 books given away, and at 200 and 300 at the story-hour, and at the Seven Hundred Club branch the average is 150.

Rolla Grows FastA Land Opens Up

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
ROLLA, B.C.—Great prospects and new growth are evident. Pasture lands are now present. All varieties of field grains are in an advanced stage of growth. The wheat is headed out and stands 2 feet or more high. The country is suffering for want of rain, and there is every indication of that year being a dry one.

All varieties of garden produce and flowers are in full bloom. It is hard to beat anywhere as is evidenced by the quantity of vegetables grown by Mr. & Mrs. R. Ripley, Mr. & Mrs. Hartman.

There are 1000 acres of new land being broken this year, and there is a constant flow of settlers pouring into the district.

The government land surveys are now surveying the large tract of land which lies six miles to the east of Rolla. Some homesteaders are following close behind the surveyors. The first 1000 acres have been taken up by squatters and most of it is fairly open prairie.

Plans to start a town are being made by the lumber yard by the Frontier Lumber Company which is also engaged in building a sawmill. Rolla also has a United Church, and an A. P. Church.

There is also a community hall and a good Tennis Court.

The recent opening of the new hotel has added a large addition to his previous establishment.

Bishop Ricki from Prince Rupert has just returned from a long vacation.

Mr. & Mrs. E. Spicer, bakers of the town of Grande Prairie, are opening up a new bakery at Rolla.

Mr. & Mrs. J. M. Smith, business men of Rolla, are engaged in the construction of their new home.

On Wednesday, July 17, the Rolla and Poole Coupe Club gave the children of the district a picnic at Niedwater on the shores of Lesser Slave Lake which was well attended.

Every car in the district was present to take the children to Poole Coupe Club.

It was a day of great success.

situated near Niedwater on the shores of Lesser Slave Lake where the season will open the 18th of August.

On the 10th of July after spending a few weeks vacation at Custer, Minn., his brother and family G. E. Panderle.
